Governor Yates's Physician Says Patient Is Doing Well.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL Springfield, Ill. Nov. 14.-Governor Yates early this morning suffered a vomiting spell, following a cough, which probably caused the revolt of his stomach. He slept five hours, said Doctor Taylor to-day, and five hours, said Doctor Taylor to-day, and rested well.

To-day he has been in fairly good condition. The fever reached a maximum of 101 4-5, which is below the maximum of other days. His pulse at times went as high as 106, but the physician says this was due to his enfeebled condition and long-continued fever and was to be expected. It is the usual thing in a fever case of this character. Doctor Taylor said to-day:

"There is no cause for alarm or anxiety. The Governor is getting along as well as we can expect. He takes his nourishment and retains it without trouble. There are no complications of a serious or dangerous character in sight."

The doctor has not called in assistance or advice, and this is taken to indicate that he does not feel any alarm or believe the case is more serious than the average typhoid case, which requires vigilance and good nursing.

Improvements, was to-day retained by Kansas City as consulting engineer of the Water Commissioners. The city is spending $1,500,000 in bettering its water system, and at once required expert service in the purchase of a new pump.

In the Board of Public Works and the Common Council the city authorities got in a tangle over tenders to supply pumps, these bids running from $80,000 to $150,000, and being unable to extricate themselves it was decided to invite the aid of three expert hydraulic engineers, two of them residing here and one, Major Benzer Berger, in Milwaukse. The latter declined, owing to pressure of business. Mr. Phillips of St. Louis was then invited. To-day he arrived and, after looking over the field, accepted the appointment.

"I became so irritable that I made life miscrable for my family and myself. Finality I went to New York to consult a specialist. After thoroughly questioning and examining me, he said I must give up drinking coffee, as it had greatly undermined my health, and he further said that coffee hilled more people than rum. I laughed at him, but he said it was the truth and that in his practice he had seen many evil effects from coffee drinking.

"He said it was of no use to prescribe for me unless I gave up coffee, and recommended that I use Postum Food Coffee, which he highly recommended. He charyed me ill for his advice, which I thought rather high priced at the time, but to-day I think it very cheap. I bought several packages of Postum from the grocer, and it was the best day's work I ever did for myself.

"I had a pot of Postum made for my supper that night; that was in the spring of 1808, and I have drank it ever since with the best of results to my beath. The sick headachs and nervousness I suffered from drinking coffee have entirely gener; I am never billous and have increased in weight; I have a happier disposition and am much more agreeable conapany to my family, and friends."

also located there—at least, it was so stated in a tax-sale advertisement by Sheriff Hencken. Krummrey is thrifty and recently concluded to invest his savings in real estate. He looked about for bargains and concluded they could be found at tax sales. Consequently, he hied himself to Clayton one Saturday about four weeks ago and bid in the farm for $80.

The farm was described in the advertisement as a part of the Lucian Meade subdivision in Jennings, where property is worth $600 an acre. After he bought it Krummrey was told that the farm could not be found. On investigating the report he hired William Elbsing, the County Surveyor, to locate it for him. Elbring searched for several days in the vicinity of Jennings and returned yesterday empty-handed, reporting hat the tract as described was invisible.

An error in the assessment of the Meade tract ten years ago is said to be responsible for this condition of affairs. The property was erroneously described in the assessment and, when taxes were not paid on it, advertised for sale. It was purchased the first time by Attorneys F. A. Heldorn and D. C. Taylor and H. W. Sebastian, a contractor. The men thought they had a bargain when they bid it in for $300, but when they went to look for their farm could not find it.

The error was never corrected, and as Messrs. Heldorn, Taylor and Sebastian had no title on which to predicate an action in ejectment, they declined to pay the taxes on it and the property was put up a second time at Sheriff's sale. Krummrey was the purchase. He has not given up and hopes yet to be able to find his farm.
